This represents an increase of more than 50% of children in child labour from 5 to 17 years old, 3 of child labourers are within the permissible age to work. Child labour in the subregions is predominantly rural. In 6 countries of Central America, it is estimated that 5,903,579 children and adolescents from 5 to 17 years old are in child labour. In 6 countries of South America, an estimated of 1,969,112 children and adolescents from 5 to 17 years are in child labour. Of the total number of child labourers, 3 of minors in child labour are boys and adolescents. Child labour in the subregions involves mostly boys and adolescents. Child labour in the subregions is predominantly rural. It is currently estimated that 107,268 children and adolescents have entered the labour force. In all countries, the percentage of girls and young women working in all the countries is less than 39%. In all countries, the percentage of girls and young women working in all the countries is less than 39%. In all countries, the percentage of girls and young women working in all the countries is less than 39%.